Venice, Octob. 12.

ON Tuesday last arrived here a Felucca with Letters from Captain-General Morosini, giving an account, That the Captain Bassa having landed out of the Turkish Fleet several thousand men at Napoli di Romania, and joined with a great Body of Horse which the Turks had drawn together on that side, he marched towards Calamata, to keep the Maynotes from revolting to the Venetians; That Captain-General Morosini, who was newly reinforced with the Troops of Saxony, consisting in 3000 men, upon advice of it, resolved to march towards the Enemy, and to fight them, which he accordingly put in execution, having first made himself Master of the Fortress of Zarnata. The Captain-Bassa confiding in the number of his Troops, and especially in his Cavalry, did not decline a Battle; And the two Armies being come near each other, and having posted themselves with the best advantage they could, they engaged with great courage on both sides; the Fight lasted several hours, and in conclusion the Turks were entirely defeated and fled; the place of Battle was covered with the Slain of the Enemy, and many were killed by the Maynotes in the pursuit. After this defeat of the Turks the Garison of Calamata abandoned that place, into which Captain General Morosini put a Garison; and the Maynotes besieged Porto Vitulo; of all which we shall be able in our next to give you a more particular relation.

Vienna, Octob. 11. The last Letters from Upper Hungary confirm that Tockay, Onoth, Potack and Serentz have surrendred upon Articles, and that Imperial Garisons have been put into those places: That Caschaw had likewise sent Deputies to General Caprara to Capitulate, and to accept the General Amnestie published by the Emperor; They at first made difficulty to receive a German Garison, pretending it was contrary to their antient Priviledges, but finding they contested this point in vain, they at last submitted to it. We do not hear with any certainty whither Teckeley is retired; There is a report that he is gone to great Waradin, but we can hardly believe he would put himself into the Hands of the Turks, who are so much incensed against him, looking upon him as the cause of their present Misfortunes; On the other hand it's said he is fled to Poland to seek refuge there, but that we can as little give credit to, seeing the King of Poland had declared to the Envoy he sent thither, That he would not Protect him In the mean time we have an account that Teckeley having sent his richest Houshold-Goods, his Plate, and 100 thousand Florins in Money towards Poland, the Imperialists upon notice of it intercepted the same, and made themselves Masters of this great Booty, which is valued at above a Million of Florins. We are likewise informed that the Sieur Peterbasi, one of Teckeley's chief Officers, who was sent with 500 Men to reinforce the Garison of Caschaw, had laid hold of the Emperor's Pardon, and offered to enter with all his Men into his Imperial Majesties Service, of which we expect a Confirmation. The Winter-Quarters being finally setled, the Imperial Commissioners are gone to the Army in order to the distribution of them. The Bavarian Cavalry are on their march towards his Electoral Highnesses Territories where they are to Winter; But the Foot are to have their Quarters in Hungary. The Letters from Croatia tell us, That the Turks have put 150 Wagons laden with Provisions, being guarded by 2000 Men, into Canitza, and that the Ottoman Troops on that side being disappointed in the design they had formed upon Pirovitza, were separated and going into their Winter-Quarters. The Count de Lamberg, late Envoy Extraordinary from the Emperor to the Electors of Saxony and Brandenburg, is named by his Imperial Majesty to go to Ratisbonne to reside as his Commissioner at the Dyet.

Ratisbonne, Octob. 16. The Duke of Lorrain, according to our last Advices, continued encamped near Comorra, expecting the Emperor's final Directions about the distribution of the Winter-Quarters. The Baron de Mercy was with the Troops under his Command still before Agria, and has with his Bombs and Carcasses ruined great part of the Town, but we do not think he will be able to make himself Master of the place, considering its Situation, and how well it is fortified. Tockay, Onoth, Potack and Serentz, have Capitulated, and received Imperial Garisons; Caschaw has likewise sent Deputies to General Caprara; And it's not doubted but the other small places that yet remain in the hands of the Rebels will follow their example. Count Teckeley is daily abandoned by his principal Officers; His richest Goods, Plate and Money, which he was sending towards Poland, have been taken by 500 Imperialists who were abroad and had notice thereof.

Cologne, Octob. 19. The Magistrates of this City having at the instance of the several Companies of Trades resolved to send Deputies to Vienna to represent to the Emperor the present state of Affairs here, the Persons were accordingly named, and they prepared themselves for their departure, but after all their Journey is like to be stopt, it having been signified to the Magistrates by the Emperor's Command, That they need not send any Deputies to Vienna; and that if they do, his Imperial Majesty will not give them Audience, seeing he has Commissioners now here to whom they may represent any Matters they are desirous to have laid before his Imperial Majesty. We are informed that the Count de Stubeck is coming hither as the Emperor's
